

Prior to the enactment of the do-not-call list, I was besieged by unwanted telephone solicitations, which very promptly disappeared once I added my name to the list. I think New Jersey's stricter guidelines are entirely appropriate and should remain as is.